

To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing to let you know that I am very concerned about the possibility that changes in the FCC broadcast service may interrupt my ability to listen to my favorite radio station.

I listen to AIR1 every single day on 92.7. This station has earned my monthly financial support as a listener because of the wonderful way they have provided uplifting and upbeat music and messages on a daily basis. In addition to listening to the station myself, I have also been able to refer members of my local community to this station for encouragement and excellent music. AIR1 provides a Christian Alternative to the filth found on other stations which carry similar styles of music.

If AIR1 were not available because of being displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing their programming, I would be incredibly disappointed. The Air1 station lets me know what is happening in the broader Christian community and helps me feel connected to the body of Christ throughout the US and overseas.

I strongly believe that AIR1 being allowed to continue broadcasting in my local area is in the best interests of this community. The station offers entertainment, information and uplifting messages not found on any other stations available to me on the local stations.

Thank you for hearing and considering my opinions. It is my hope that hearing from listeners of AIR1 will make an impact on your final decision in this important matter.

Sincerely,
Sally Plitt
